Local Giving

Community-based nonprofits need donors to “give local.” “While several billion-dollar mega-gifts from wealthy individuals generate headlines that suggest all is well, in fact large institutions continue to amass resources, while nonprofits serving communities in need are barely getting by.”

— The New Normal: Capacity Building During a Time of Disruption

The Giving USA report shows that Individual giving declined 6.4% in 2022 (13.4% when adjusted for inflation). What’s more, total charitable giving dropped by 3.4% (10.5% when adjusted for inflation). The report also confirms the ongoing trend in our country of charitable gifts coming from fewer and fewer individuals.

- The United Philanthropy Forum, June 2023

Nonprofits are struggling to meet increasing demands for services

What Volunteers Mean to Local Organizations

Others are passionate and willing to collaborate about the problem you are trying to solve

People are there to help you, to relieve you, to cheer you on and help you accomplish the mission

Provides hope that a difference can be made

Encourages forward movement

Provides new perspectives and ideas

Thank you.
